

ABSTRACT

A rabbit skin containing biologically active substances is obtained by the process including vaccinating rabbit skin tissues with vaccinia virus, feeding a rabbit vaccinated with vaccinia virus, killing the rabbit when its skin tissues are sufficiently inflamed, and skinning the rabbit. The rabbit skin of the present invention can be used for preparing drugs and health foods.